SPECIAL INTERVIEW WITH GERALDO RIVERA

FINISH LINE DANCE PARTY

Lachi
Award-winning performer and disability advocate

CAN'T MAKE IT IN PERSON? JOIN THE LIVESTREAM. GO TO CENTRALPARKCHALLENGE.ORG.

Seeing beyond disability.

The day we've all been waiting for is here: YAI's return to a live, in-person Central Park Challenge. Today, our whole community comes together to run, walk, play, and see beyond disabilities.

Welcome!

It's been a long road. In January, YAI hit the ground running to get ready for today. We monitored conditions to be sure our community would stay safe and began to plan. YAI staff, families, and the people we support worked hard for months to raise awareness and resources that make Central Park Challenge a success. From our "Central Park Challenges," to yoga classes, social dis-dance parties, advocacy events with legislators, and even a contest for the cutest YAI pet, we've been gearing up for this morning. Our celebration will once again be hosted by Bill Ritter of ABC News, who is one of YAI's greatest champions. We have a solid line-up with entertainment that includes prominent performers with disabilities and YAI favorites. The day culminates in our Finish Line Dance Party with Lachi, an award-winning performer and disability advocate.

YAI's work would not be possible without the generous support of sponsors that stand with us in good times and bad. This online guide offers a glimpse at the larger community that believes in YAI's work.

Thank you for joining us as a supporter and making a difference in the lives of people with disabilities.

Now onto our celebration!

George Contos
Chief Executive Officer
